

BARACK OBAMA'S DILEMMA

A white nigger's open letter to the new President of the USA

Mr. President,

As a white nigger, may I allow myself to quote one of the classical texts, written in 1682 by Jean de la Bruyère under the reign of Louis XIV, that I remembered best in school, because I discovered my condition of slave in a country where time has remained fixed for three centuries:

One sees some shy animals, males and females, spread in the country, black, pale and completely burnt by the sun, attached to the land they are digging and shaking with an invincible obstinacy; they have like an articulated voice, and, when they raise on their feet, they show a human face; and they are men. They hide at night in their retreats, where they live from black bread, water and roots: they spare other men from sowing, digging and collecting food to live, and deserve not to be lacking in the bread they have sown.

Mr. President, you are best placed to know that millions of Americans are living in the same conditions, without mentioning underfed populations everywhere in the world, without resources or perspectives, condemned to distress and hunger.

La Bruyère adds:

There is some shame attached to being happy seeing misery.

Looking at the tragic reality of USA, are you not ashamed to be American? On my part, I am not hiding that I am ashamed to be French when I see injustice and distress in both the cities as well as in the French countryside, which in the old days was the garden of Europe. But I feel privileged because I left fifty years ago to live in Germany and meditate. I took the time and opportunity to discover the human condition of a humiliated people, which had to raise itself from nothing. This is something like the situation you are living today. I have to see things from your point of view and made a list of your priorities.

It seems shocking to me that the current power accuse the American people of having abused banks by contracting irrevocable loans, because it is the banks, which have abused the people. The causes for such evils are multiples: on the one hand, they lie in the climatic catastrophe and on the other hand, in the irresponsible way in which the current Republican administration has got into debt to finance an unjustified war, on the other. One should therefore identify the origins of the crisis by going back to sources.

The primary cause goes back to the Bretton Woods agreements, which were a provisory measure in the beginning to save the Western economy during the days after the Second World War. Unfortunately, we must admit that the USA transgressed the trust people gave them. Will you be able to accept this unbearable situation? I suppose the lawyer you are has some notions of political economy. Was it fair that the States transformed their national money into universal monetary standard without the agreement of their partners? By doing this, all the illegal debts of the USA influenced the economy of their allies and commercial partners. What right does the USA have to make their allies contribute to financing irresponsible political projects such as the Korean War or the Vietnam War, without mentioning Iraq and Afghanistan today?

How far must the anti-Islamic "McCarthyism" delirium go? Because America fell into the trap of Marxist "materialistic dialectic vision of history", it had to play by the rules of the Soviet Union. It is therefore normal that it should have undergone the same type of evolution. The Republican Party believed it could conquer the world arming itself with an apocalyptic military force. I do not know how a Republican president would have managed the crisis of Cuba, even though one has to admit that Ronald Reagan had a good reaction in paving the way for a reconciliation with the USSR.

The biggest disaster of all times has certainly been the fall of the Soviet empire, which was a priority for the USA, since they had to find a new enemy to fight against. Once middle class Russia came back to respectful manners and the process of disarmament started, America had another problem, because the arms race had ruined both empires to China's profit, which, cured from its childhood diseases, has become the driving force of world economy and investments. There again, America lost and had to give up a share of its economic leadership.

One of America's biggest mistakes has been to think that we could build a worldwide financial empire based on speculation in the high spheres of the stock market and banking. The bubble burst and 25 billion dollars vanished into thin air. It has to be said that this is no more than a common process of balancing. The question is now to know how America, with its huge debts, will obtain this gigantic sum to straighten up its economy and regain control of the situation.

As a parting gift, George W. Bush has left you the poisoned present of a carefully prepared financial crack before leaving the White House. This catastrophe is in fact the corollary of the disaster of 9/11 that was at the origin of America's decline over the last eight years.

Once the question of Bretton Woods has been solved, the USA, under your presidency, will have to repair the Republican government's mistakes. Mister President, remember the historical gesture of the German chancellor Willy Brandt when he knelt in front of the war memorial in Warsaw to beg forgiveness of the Polish people. He accepted to make a great gesture and it was the beginning of a real appeasement between the two major powers, mainly USSR and GFR, which benefited by concluding profitable contracts and ensuring provisions in Russian natural gas under very advantageous conditions.

Mr. President, you too will have to kneel on the site of WTC in New York to beg God and all Muslim countries for forgiveness, under the name of the American people, to have unfairly accused them of a crime they didn't commit, since the crime of 9/11 was a plot organized by the White House, the Pentagon and the CIA. Your presidency will then have to bring a definitive answer to all embarrassing questions (painful questions), which have remained unanswered to this day. It is not a question of haggling between senators and representatives in the assemblies, but a sacred work to allow the truth to come out, that you will accomplish in front of God in the name of your conscience and of the American people.

The demand for forgiveness from the USA will allow soldiers to come back with honor from Iraq and Afghanistan. If you want to be taken seriously by the Muslims all over the world, play the card of God and do it sincerely for historical truth. This means your government will mandate the UN to throw out a call for witnesses in all the countries of the world. With a little luck, Osama bin Laden, if he is still alive, will come in front of the international martial court under oath, which will be set up under the high authority of the United Nations, at the express demand of the democratic governments.

This will leave the question of repairing the damage caused by the USA to the Muslim populations following 9/11. America will rise again to become the ally of progress and justice in the entire world. In order to know how to get the sum of 250.000 billion dollars, you just have to read the text that I am sending:

The question of added value,
the basis of any social equity

By doing this, you will start an irreversible universal revolution, because you will be able to abolish taxes, interests on borrowed money and guarantee a honest salary to all the citizens of the earth until the end of time: the best guaranty of peace and long term prosperity, but in particular to save the planet from ecological disaster.

Mr. President, a certain Joshua the Nazarene had the same skin color as you. With God's Grace, it is possible that the future generations say of President Barrack Obama that he was the reincarnation of the Son of a Man who came back to earth. Everything is a question of faith, because it is enough to believe. For that, you just need to make money to fall from the sky (the Sun), which means indexing the added value on the energy invested in the work of the machines. It is a monetary theory that came to maturity, which will allow you to solve the problem of the American debt in five years without asking the American people for one single dollar of tax. From this point of view it is possible that the humble white nigger, that I am, can give you advice for free which will make you the president who saved America and world peace, but most importantly who made it possible to bring the United states of Europe into being; which is the guaranty of a long term fraternal union between our two people.
